MID-ATLANTIC REGIONAL RESOURCES

The states of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania are included in this region.

This document provides a non-comprehensive overview of some record types, resources, and strategies that may be covered on the ICAPGen regional exams. Use it as a starting point to direct your studies and to compile research reference guides.

NOTE: The exams are open book, including the Internet. Paper and/or digital research reference guides may be used during the test. Digital research reference guides on USB drives will be copied to the facility computer and deleted from that computer at the end of the test session. They may also be accessed through your cloud account such as Dropbox, Google, OneDrive, etc.

RESOURCES

Repositories
Some repositories important for Mid-Atlantic genealogical research are shown. You will also want to be familiar with repositories specific to smaller local areas where you do most of your research.

- Archives & Libraries
  - State Archives [list one for each state]
    - Baltimore City Archives, https://baltimorecityhistory.net/
    - Delaware Public Archives, https://archives.delaware.gov/
    - Maryland State Archives, https://msa.maryland.gov/
    - New York Municipal Archives, https://on.nyc.gov/2R1Xury
  - Libraries (public, private, and university)
    - Daughters of the American Revolution Library (DAR), https://www.dar.org/
    - Library of Congress, https://loc.gov/
    - National Archives, https://www.archives.gov/

For more for each state see

- Courthouses (county-level, state, and U.S. District)
  Genealogically relevant courthouses in the Mid-Atlantic region are typically county-level. During a state’s early history many more significant matters came under the state supreme court. You will need to be familiar with the Surrogate’s court, Prothonotary, and Orphan’s Court, among other courts.

Websites
Many repositories have websites that include some record indexes or images. Volunteer groups and individuals also place useful content online. The following are good starting points to find useful websites.

- Cyndi’s List [http://www.cyndislist.com/] categories for each of the states
- Facebook genealogy pages for the region, use search field to locate specific groups
- USGenWeb Project [http://www.usgenweb.org/]
- USGenWeb Archives [http://www.usgwarchives.net/] (select state of interest from home page.)
- Your favorite search engine

The following is a brief and non-comprehensive list of important region-specific websites.

- Fulton History, online newspapers mostly from New York [http://fultonhistory.com/]
- Maryland State Archives, online land records [https://mdlandrec.net/]

Finding aids
Finding aids listing the sources that repositories hold are often available online, but not always. Knowledge of such collections not listed online can often be obtained through local experience, visits to repositories, and conversations with local experts.

Book-length research guides
It is recommended that you study some guides on topics such as genealogical research, analysis, writing, and record types. Whether you are an expert or a beginner, reading research guides for your states, repositories, record types, and topics of interest, will help advance your region-specific knowledge. General guides are so plentiful that any list could quickly go out-of-date and would risk overlooking some. The following list serves as an introduction.

For more see:

• If needed, ask genealogists in your community or on social media for additional recommendations.

Flier-length research guides

Flier-length research guides for your area may be available from many organizations, in series such as the following.

• Family Tree Magazine’s State Research Guides https://bit.ly/2GTg0CL various series on states ($)

• The In-Depth Genealogist’s In-Brief Research Guides https://bit.ly/2C2m6et series on states ($)

STRATEGIES

SPECIFIC FOR MID-ATLANTIC RESEARCH

• Compare results of all federal and state censuses. New Jersey and New York have important state census collections. Genealogically valuable New York state censuses include 1855, 1865, 1875, 1892, 1905, 1915, and 1925. For New Jersey, these include 1855, 1865, 1885, 1895, 1905, and 1915.

• Know the date vital statistics were first recorded for each state in the region and the laws that affected their recording. For example: in the state of Delaware, statewide registration of births began in 1861 but was discontinued in 1863. Statewide registration was resumed in 1881 and was generally complied with by 1921.

• More so than many other United States regions, important genealogical records in the Mid-Atlantic region may be generated at the town level.

• Know religious and ethnic populations
• There are significant early populations of Dutch orGerman.
• New York City was previously known as New Amsterdam.
• Pennsylvania is known for their “Pennsylvania Dutch” population.
• Significant minority religions include Amish, Mennonite, andDunkard in Pennsylvania.
• There were major immigrations of several ethnicities into the ports at New York andPhiladelphia.
• Ethnic churches, societies, newspapers, and other resources—often in thecommunity’s mother tongue—are plentiful in the Mid-Atlantic region.

FOR GENERAL UNITED STATES RESEARCH
• Search all applicable census records to find complete families.
• Use original records, when possible, created at the time of the event. These might be foundat various jurisdictional levels (such as town, county, state/province, federal/national).
• Understand your family in historical context, including wars and jurisdictional boundarychanges. To learn about these important elements, see FamilySearch Research Wiki article,“United States History” https://bit.ly/2Axqpya and the state links for each state in youraccreditation region.
• If indirect evidence is used, assemble it correctly to support your conclusions. If neededuse the FamilySearch Research Wiki article, “United States Record Selection Table” https://bit.ly/2RtPX9m for further research suggestions to locate other records andevidence that might aid your research and form conclusions.
• Evaluate each record. Resolve any conflicting information. Correlate findings.
• Substitute records might be used when there is a lack of records or record loss. An eventmight be recorded in multiple ways. For example, a marriage might be recorded civilly, bythe church, or in a newspaper. Each should be checked.
• Source each event in each person’s life. Capture the information about each source tofacilitate proper citation when writing the report.
• Keep a research log of all records searched, including any searches for which nothing wasfound.
• Verify generational links.
• Understand applicable economics, religion, ethnicity, prejudices, and laws. For example:Know availability of records for major religious denominations in each state.
• Watch for persons with the same name (e.g. parents with the same name on a census orother record). Consider all variants of spelling for the name along with ways a name could bemisspelled when searching indexes and online resources. See FamilySearch Research Wikiarticle, “Name Variations in United States Indexes and Records” https://bit.ly/2CQbOQSfor suggestions.
LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT
For the Mid-Atlantic region some basic German language skills are required. It is important to be able to identify a German document (birth, baptismal record, marriage, or death/burial record) and be able to abstract important genealogical data such as name, parent’s names, dates, places, etc.
